

SA Roadlink supports the National Aids Business Bannathon

December 2011, to show their support for World Aids Awareness Month, SA Roadlink has become a sponsor for the National Aids Business Bannathon movement, www.bannerthon.org.za. By participating and displaying the banner companies, such as SA Roadlink, show a visible concern for people affected by AIDS and HIV and have made a direct impact on their community.

The funds raised through the bannathon are given to 11 different orphanages which receive 75% of the profits generated from this event. Over the last 10 years, more than 5.5 million Rand has been raised and given to the orphanages. Without this financial help, many of the orphanages would have struggled to remain open as they do not receive state funding.

SA Roadlink's commitment to this cause can be seen by the AIDS Bannerthon wrapped around their head office in City Deep Johannesburg.